

Our free travel support to help young people get to school

Easy read booklet

Who we are and what we do

We are the London Borough of Haringey.

We give free travel support to young people who go to school and need extra help to get there.

This booklet tells you the most important information about

- who can get our free travel support.
- the support you can get.

You can find more information in Haringey's Post-16 School Travel Assistance Policy.

Our aims

We want our free travel support to

- keep young people safe.

- use ways to travel options that are better for our planet like walking, cycling, buses and train.

- help children learn new skills and be more independent.

Independent means you can do things for yourself.

Who can get our free travel support

We give free travel support to young people who are 16 to 25 years old.

16

This support starts from the school year after a child's 16th birthday.

A young person needs to be on a full time course that is Level 3 or lower.

Full-time means they study at school for 18 hours every week or more.

You can then get our free travel support to help the young person get to school if they

- can't walk to school because the way to get there isn't safe.

- is more than 8 years old and travels more than 3 miles from home to school. They must go to the closest school that's right for them.

- can't travel to school because they have a disability or Special Educational Needs, even if they are with an adult they trust.

You can also get our free travel support for a young person to get to school if

- your family is in crisis and hasn't got enough other support.

In crisis means you and your family find it hard to do important daily things like getting your child to school.

- your child has a mental health problem.

A mental health problem can affect how your child feels, thinks and behaves. This might mean your child needs help or support to do daily activities.

- your child has a health problem for a short time.

- your child has a disabled parent or carer.

A carer looks after and supports another person who needs help with their daily life.

- your child has moved house because of domestic violence.

Domestic violence is when someone in your family or your partner hurts you.

The free travel support you can get

Our free travel support includes

- travel by taxi or a special bus service.

- training to give your child the skills they need to travel independently.

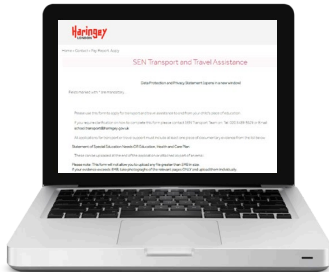

- money to pay for travel or petrol costs.

If you don't get our free travel support, you might be able to get a bursary or cheaper tickets than normal. A bursary is money you get that you don't have to pay back.

How to ask for our free travel support

To ask for our free travel support to help your child get to school, go to our website and fill in the form.

If you already get our free travel support, you need to fill in the form again if

- your child has moved house.
- your child has changed school.
- your child is moving from nursery to primary school.
- your child is moving from primary school to secondary school.
- your child is 16 years old or more and staying at the same school or moving to a new school or college.

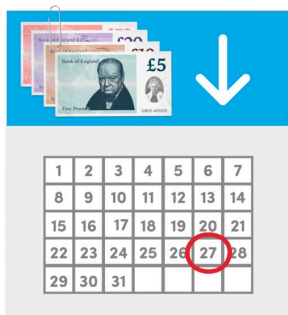

We will tell you as soon as we can if you will get our free travel support, but you might have to wait for a month.

If you want our free travel support for a new school year, you must fill in the form on our website before the cut-off-date.

The cut-off date is the last date you can ask for our free travel support for the new school year.

If you ask for our free travel support for a new school year after the cut-off date, we will still help you, but the support might be different.

It might not begin at the start of the school year and the type of support we give you at the start might change.

What to do if you are unhappy with our decision

If you are unhappy with our decision when you ask for our free travel support, you can appeal. Appeal means you ask us to look at our decision again to see if it's right.

If you appeal there are 2 parts, called stages.

- Stage 1 Appeal.
- Stage 2 Appeal.

If you are still unhappy after your appeal, you can get in touch with the Local Government Ombudsman.

The Local Government Ombudsman will look at our decision again to see if they think it's right.

If you want to complain

If you complain, it means you tell us you are not happy with the service we have given you.
